

Image Copyright Policy

Images of the Carousel of Happiness, the Carousel of Happiness logo, and the name of the organization all constitute intellectual property that belongs to the Carousel of Happiness, Inc., organization.

The Carousel of Happiness Board of Directors hereby establishes the policy that any artist, manufacturer or printer that intends to sell or distribute merchandise, printed material or art that includes Carousel of Happiness images, its logo, or name should contact the head of the organization to reach an agreement for its distribution.

The agreement may include a negotiated fee for the use of a specified number of replications of the image, whether on the same item or on different items. For some non-profit uses, the fee may be waived. However, in all cases, the words: "Image used with the permission of the Carousel of Happiness, Inc., Nederland, Colorado, www.carouselofhappiness.org" must appear.

The Carousel of Happiness retains the right of refusal for any use of its copyrighted images that does not meet the approval of the head of the organization, either through a matter of taste, proper use or any use that could be viewed as demeaning or contrary to the mission of the Carousel of Happiness.

The negotiation of the said fee is the responsibility of the head of the Carousel. If any question persists or is left unanswered, application may be made to the Carousel Board of Directors for further consideration.
